Dedication

To the group of sincere men who are entrusted with the monumental task of insuring that the best high school within the resources of our community actually becomes a working reality, who are diligent, careful, progressive but with an eye to intelligent economy, who are really interested in the welfare of youth, whose tasks are seldom acknowledged with thanks, and who are willing even to withstand rebuff in the fulfillment of their severe jobs—to a most enlightened group of public servants—the BOARD OF TRUSTEES of Vacaville Union High School—this issue of the Ulatis is dedicated with real appreciation.

Principal's Message

An official salute to the class of 1951! This issue of the Ulatis, being a new venture in journalism, serves as a testimonial to your willingness to look toward new frontiers. In like measure, the preparations for a new high school which are so visibly evident, stress the fact that the whole school and community are actively planning a new era of educational offering for Vacaville. There is some satisfaction to be derived in being the last class to graduate from the "old school upon the hill."

1950 - Student

The new council started with a bustle of activities.

They appointed Don Moriel to a new office, that of Publicity Manager, which lasts for a whole year.

It was decided that the band would receive 10 per cent of the intake at each function they participated in.

It was left up to the Boys' Block "V" to submit revisions of the award system. Nothing definite was decided.

New uniforms were authorized and purchased for the "B" basketball squad.

Spring Student Body officers were nominated, and a date was set for campaigns and elections.

Council - 1951

With the spring officers, the STUDENT COUNCIL continued its many activities. The first thing undertaken was the rallies. New ideas were submitted to generate more pep and school spirit. Block letters for the majorettes were suggested and the band was to submit requirements to be voted on by the council. Amplifier rates were discussed and plans were made to lower them. Council members were in favor of having rallies for baseball and track as well as the other sports. A Student Body carnival was planned again for this year. Captains were chosen for Orange and Black day.

Four Years with the Class of '51"

As the largest class in high school, we bravely battled through our first week of initiation, which ended with the Freshman Reception. In retaliation to these doubtful honors, we held the Return Dance for the Sophomores. Then we gallantly offered to shine the trophies. Our first big entertainment was our April Showers Dance. New and clever ideas showed that we had the talent for even better things to come. Our advisor this year was Miss Karneges.

Our second year saw the hurried departure of our advisor, but happily for us we acquired Mr. Record in her place. To the newcomers, we handed out a hectic week of initiation, and the dreaded Freshman Reception was attended by a record crowd. Our highlight of this year was the Sophomore Hop, which was carried out by a football theme.

The next year saw the addition of the illfated Mr. Shier as our advisor. Under the guidance of both advisors, we set out making money on concessions and sending for our school rings. At this time our class brought back the dying tradition of the Junior-Senior Banquet, which was greatly appreciated by the Seniors. Our Junior Prom was the happy reward of work well done. With a Valentine theme, the gym was disguised in red and white hearts with a large white tree in the center of the floor. To us the Prom was one yet to be outdone.

Giving Sox dances and taking over concessions, we desperately gathered in money for our Senior activities. With cash in hand we set out to enjoy our last year. The morning of February 21 saw us sleepily headed for Soda Springs on our Senior Sneak. Returning bruised but satisfied in having had a good time, we began concentrating on the Senior Play. "Springtime For Patsy" lived up to all expectations and showed the results of time well spent. A treat for us was the Junior-Senior Banquet, at which we were shown a fine time. The Senior Supper was held at the Hotel Claremont where we acted as ladies and gentlemen, yet still managed to really enjoy ourselves. Traditions crumbled as we planned our Senior Ball in early May instead of after graduation, as had been the custom. Tradition or not, the Ball, as our last formal dance, proved as enjoyable as any before. Our caps and gowns for graduation were the final breaking of tradition. With this we left old Vaca High with memories still fresh in our minds.

Senior Class Prophecy

It's New Year's Eve of 1965 and nearing midnight. Old 1965 is getting ready to make his exit, but before he does, he decides to have a last look at his old friends.

In a fashionable New York dive, as the neon lights outside flash "Jack & Jim's," a wild party is in progress. The proprietors, Jack and Jim Cheechov, are throwing a party for their old 1951 graduation class. Old 1965 trips about unnoticed smiling into familiar faces and remembering escapades he'd seen them through. There's little Connie Mejia, who has left her usual job of hat check girl to help Margaret Barker, the best female bartender yet, set up the drinks. Pat Hughes, now teaching U. S. History at Vaca Hi, is trying to cheer up Al Espinosa and Wallace Smith, who are sitting with their heads on the counter, deploring the fact that they are still on parole. Sitting in a corner of the room are Roger Dicks, Bill Stell, and Gilbert Woody, three now prosperous morticians. The secret of their success, the three say, is their special musical services. Marie Kay, now the wife of Dr. Frank Cuellar, is vainly trying to get them to play their sweet version of "So Long, It's Been Good To Know You." Marie and her husband reside at the Broken Joints Ski Lodge, where Marie gives skiing instructions and Frank amuses tourists by letting them watch as he shoots those who break a leg. Pris Price, psychologist, was trying to stop an argument between her patients, Jess Valadez and Irvin Jones, who couldn't agree on which horse was going to win on New Year's Day. They have been trying to go straight, but Leo Lopez, President of the gambling syndicate, is blackmailing them. Chris Sandholt, head of the F.B.I., with his efficient policewomen Shirley (blackjack) Stapp and Lorraine Rositano, enjoyed themselves by talking over cases with Mary Marfil, Alice Parker and Edith Paolini, who are notorious palm readers. Also in this group are Howard Webb, Ken Fittro and Bob Holdener, who run "Madman Webb's" auto racing speedway. The boys got into trouble by betting heavily and fixing the races. In a diaper discussion are Millie Carrington, Millie Harrington, Jodean Little, Carol Sherman and Pat Leggett. All the men were home baby sitting, but Pat had 3 of her 5 little girls attired in her familiar cashmeres cut down to size. LaVerne Hopper again is telling the story of how she met her husband on a Gibson bus (he was the driver). Corrupt politician Joe Paolino, with his bodyguards John Lopez and Charles Knecht, is having a lively talk over his coming election with Margie Smith, his slick campaign manager. Peggy Fox, owner of the nationally read "Fox Gazette" is supporting Joe for old times sake. Peg has a hard time keeping John Gilley from printing the truth in the paper's scandal sheet. Joyce Lellman is not speaking because of the story he wrote on Rocky's divorce case. Joyce was named as the cause of it, and John did a little name calling. Carmen Imbernon is also a credit to the paper for she has won 2 awards in sports writing, even though she wastes pages on Jim Manecino. Attired in her purple robe can be seen Cecelia Carrillo, T. V. wrestler, with her fight managers, Clarence Burnett and Ken Krossa. Also among the group is Doug DeFilippis, designer of women's wrestling shorts and Hugh Graham, the well known hair stylist.

At the first gong of midnite, Agnes Romine's jazz band began jazzing out with what might be "Auld Lang Syne" with Ray Rodriquez as vocalist. On hearing the music, Helen Coppi, famed bubble dancer, swings into her best number "I Wore A Big Red Rose." Eddie Garcia, in anticipation of this event, had been selling pins throughout the evening, and the old year went out with a Bang!

Quartet

The Music Department this year was especially proud of its MAJORETTES and BRASS QUARTET. The girls practiced a lot on their routines, and were justly rewarded by their fine performances. They marched at the ball games and in various parades. The Quartet furnished musical entertainment for many local organizations, and was always enthusiastically received. They often played at school rallies and Student Body meetings. During Easter vacation, they participated in a six state music conference held in San Diego. The boys' most important event of the year was when they entered the California State Music Contest at Berkeley. They have been rated excellent in their past performances, and much of their success is credited to their instructor, Mr. Record.

Band

Moriel, C. Groulx, B. Dean, J. Stell, D. DeFilippis, Mr. Lawrence Record, Director. Those not pictured are B. Nulk, B. Hill, and P. Kirlov.

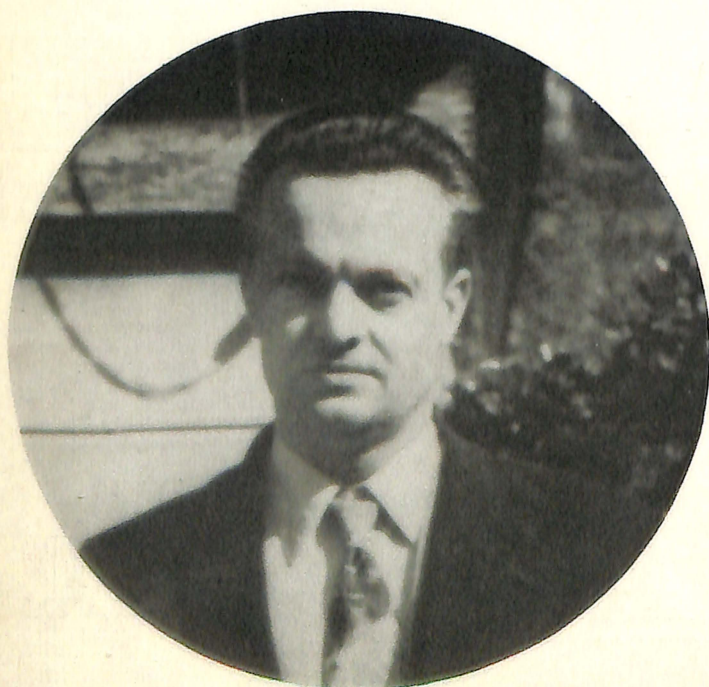

The BAND this year was the largest in the history of the school, and living up to its past reputation, it participated in many activities. They played at football games and made excellent showings of their marching routines during half times. They also took an active part at the basketball games, and accompanied the majorettes during their drills. In September, they played at the Solano County Fair held in Vallejo, and later on, several members traveled to Stockton where they marched and played at the C.O.P.-Santa Clara game.

During the Spring they were invited to participate in several out of town parades. In April, they took part in the activities of the Winters Youth Day, and made a fine showing of their marching ability. The following month they traveled to Dixon, and took part in the annual Dixon County Fair. This was the climax to an eventful year.

The G.A.A. started the year off with their annual hike. The girls took the afternoon off from school, and hiked to the neighboring hills. One of their money making ideas was a cake sale, which they held during the noon hours of a school week. This proved to be a financial success. Later on, a dance was held during the holiday vacation. It was the Christmas Ball. A decorated tree was in the center, and chains and huge balls hung from the rafters.
